

Police driving license

MALAY MAIL

APR 19, 2011

PG 9

QUESTION :

I'm a policeman and got my police driving license three months ago, but i plan to change it to a commercial driving license. Will i be under probation and issued a probationary license if i opt to switch?

---

ANSWER :

According to the Road Transport Act 1987, the application to change from a police driving license to a commercial driving license issued by the Road Transport Department is not subject to probation.

Upon the change, police officers will be issued a Competence Driving License (CDL) if they apply according to procedures at any state RTD office or branch.